BREAKING...After re-analyzing a study performed by Centers for Disease Control (CDC) researchers, a peer-reviewed study (https://cf5e727d-d02d-4d71-89ff-9fe2d3ad957f.filesusr.com/ugd/adf864_2bd97450072f4364a65e5cf1d7384dd4.) The use of mRNA vaccines in pregnancy is now generally considered safe for COVID-19 in countries such as New Zealand, USA, and Australia. However, the sponsored article by Shimabukuro et al. (2021) used to support this idea, on

The study indicates that at least 81.9% ($\geq 104/127$) experienced spon following mRNA exposure before 20 weeks, and 92.3% (96/104) of sp abortions occurred before 13 weeks' gestation

We question the conclusions of the Shimabukuro et al.[4] study to support mRNA vaccine in early pregnancy, which has now been hastily incorporate international guidelines for vaccine use, including in New Zealand.[1] The ; exposure in the third trimester cohort is representative of the effect of exp pregnancy is questionable and ignores past experience with drugs such as Evidence of safety of the product when used in the first and second trimester established until these cohorts have been followed to at least the perinatal p safety determined for any of the babies born to mothers inoculated during p Additionally, the product's manufacturer, Pfizer, contradicts these assuran "available data on Comirnaty administered to pregnant women are insuffic

Q The study (<https://www.nejm.org/doi/full/10.1056/nejmoa2104983>), though (https://www.nejm.org/doi/full/10.1056/NEJMx210016?query=recirc_cura last month after concerns (https://www.nejm.org/doi/full/10.1056/NEJMcquery=recirc_curatedRelated_article), were raised by a researcher in Belgium. Scientists acknowledged they should have made clear that they could not accurately estimate the risk of miscarriages because follow-up data was not yet available for pregnant women.

The correction resolved some of the issues, but there are still more, according to Dr. Peter Thornley, a senior lecturer in the University of Auckland's Section of Epidemiology and Biostatistics, and Dr. Aleisha Brock, another researcher in New Zealand (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/t-new-zealand>).

The CDC researchers concluded their findings didn't show any obvious safety concerns for pregnant women who received the Pfizer or Moderna vaccines. They said the findings do not necessarily represent the position of the CDC, but the agency links to the study and used it (https://www.theepochtimes.com/cdc-recommends-pregnant-covid-19-vaccine_3789564.html) to promote vaccination in pregnant women. A letter from the study's main author was forwarded to a CDC spokeswoman, who provided a statement regarding the study.

"We are aware that some of the data has been used to calculate a higher rate of miscarriages. This is not an appropriate calculation based on the data available because many pregnancies were ongoing, and their outcome data was not available at the time of the study. About 10–25 [percent] of known pregnancies end in miscarriage. CDC expects to conduct a study the effects of COVID-19 vaccination on pregnancies and closely monitor for any concerns," the agency said at the time.

The spokeswoman also referred to two (<https://www.nejm.org/doi/full/10.1056/NEJMc2113891>) research (<https://jamanetwork.com/journals/jama/fullarticle/2784193>) letters regarding miscarriages in pregnant women and COVID-19 vaccines that have since been published. One was from a researcher who said the estimated risk of miscarriages following vaccination was within the range of miscarriages that actually occur. The other, from outside researchers, also reached a similar conclusion.

Q “The new findings are reassuring and can help inform discussions about COVID during pregnancy between pregnant people and their healthcare providers,” said, adding that “Growing evidence about the safety and effectiveness of COVID vaccination during pregnancy demonstrates that the benefits of receiving a vaccine outweigh any known or potential risks.”

The CDC recommends (https://www.theepochtimes.com/cdc-new-data-suggests-covid-vaccines-safe-for-pregnant-women_3944221.html) pregnant women get a COVID vaccine with few exceptions.

Thornley is not so sure. He said the studies do show no increased risk in getting pregnant but there are some questions regarding the selection of participants.

“There are at least some questions related to the selection of participants for case-control studies, compared to a cohort analysis such as that found in the data which addresses this issue of safety, particularly with regard to exposure to vaccines early in pregnancy, is sparse, from published evidence, and I would not believe it is in any way conclusive,” he told The Epoch Times.

“Since the risk of fatality or severe outcome following COVID-19 infection is generally extremely low for younger people, including those who are pregnant, we advise caution against the use of the vaccine, given the substantial uncertainty,” he added.

Morning shows on major networks like Good Morning America, who notoriety propagated propaganda for the Left featured a piece in February 2021 on a clinical trial that studied pregnant women who get the COVID jab.

Eight months later, the CBS Morning show began to help the CDC with their women to get the COVID jab. In their segment, they feature a pregnant mon COVID.

It would be great if there was a central source for factual information that is not influenced by political opinions and government agencies or elected leaders, including the influence from financial contributions made to them by big pharma that stands to make money from the production and sale of their COVID vaccines.

The democrat/communist system is vested in the "this Vaccine is 100% safe Narrative" that w high they will never admit it doesn't help and at worst kills. And if the bodies do pile up they v bad, they will claim it is bad quality control at the pharma plants. Anyone remember the bad / giving the soldiers in desert storm, the vaccine they would not annotate on your shot records v

Lt. Col. Theresa Long Silenced by U.S. Army After Grounding Pilots Experiencing Adverse ‘Vaccines’

Not only is the U.S. military forcing servicemembers to get jabbed, they're also silencing adverse reactions.

In the past, a handful of reports of adverse reactions were enough to make healthcare and government further injections. But instead of expressing concern and pushing the Lt. Col. Long’s story up the chain, it was suppressed. According to her report:

“After I reported to my command my concerns that in one morning I had to ground three out of the four pilots with injuries, the next day my patients were canceled, my charts were pulled for review, and I was told to stop seeing acute patients anymore, just healthy pilots there for their flight physical.”

A repeat of the 1991 Gulf War Anthrax vaccinations and a repeat of the Vietnam Agent Orange admitted Agent Orange causes cancer and liver damage and Army never admitted the 1991 Agent Orange will never admit it here. You get destroyed physically, they get Bronze Stars for a successful "victory" official word that not adverse reactions occur you get no disability benefits only a not fit for duty with a tin cup and living under a bridge.
